A black and white photograph capturing three men on a small, light-colored boat in the middle of the ocean. The men are engaged in hauling a large, dark net, which is partially submerged and creates a significant splash of white water. The man at the bow, wearing a dark tank top and a wide-brimmed hat, is leaning over the side, pulling on a rope. The man in the center, wearing a light-colored shirt, dark trousers, and a wide-brimmed hat, stands upright, looking towards the net. The man at the stern, wearing a dark tank top and shorts, is also leaning over the side, working with the net. The boat is equipped with various ropes and pulleys. The ocean is choppy with small waves. In the far distance, a hazy horizon line separates the sea from a range of mountains under a pale sky.
